DISCUSS METHODS

Large East Side Delegation Attends Convention at Kirkland

The East Side Sunday School Convention, which convened at Kirkland Friday, was one of the most instructive and most enjoyable of all the sessions of this Association.

Large delegations from the various Sunday Schools on the East Side were present numbering about seventy-five, with Janita Sunday School in the lead numerically. Bothell being a close second.

The program was opened by Rev. C. E. Newberry, conducting the devotional service. The morning program was featured by talks by Mrs. Davidson of Seattle on "Elementary Work" and Tracy Strong of the Seattle Y. M. C. A. on "The Boy and the Boy Scouts." Both discussions were of more than usual interest and furnished topics for lengthy discussion by those present.

The principal speakers at the afternoon session were Prof. R. C. Hastings of Lincoln High School, Seattle, on "Sunday School Music" and Miss Mona Nichols of Spokane on "Evangelism in the Sunday School." Prof. Hastings also conducted the music of the Convention, and so pleased the audience that he was requested to be present at the next convention prepared to do some practical work along music lines.

Miss Nichols was an inspiration to those present and her talk was without doubt the climax of the session. At the conclusion of the address, Miss Nichols favored the audience with a solo by request.

Rev. J. H. Teale discussed "Advertising" among other topics given an informal discussion.

The ladies of the Congregational, Methodist and Rose Hill churches served lunch at noon hour.

At the evening hour, music was conducted by Prof. Hastings with Mrs. Lamberson as soloist and a special anthem by the Methodist choir. The speakers of the hour were Dr. J. H. Matthews, Congregational field representative, and C. W. Moore, the General Secretary of Western Washington Association.

Dr. Matthews discussed "Sunday School By-Products" and Mr. Moore, "The Growth and Development of the Sunday School." Both talks were of unusual interest.

The Association decided upon Woodinville for the next Convention on November 26th.

The election has been set for next week and it is expected to develop considerable friendly rivalry. The officers of the Association were elected last year and are: President, Francis Rowley; Secretary, Stella Bruner; and Treasurer, Ralph Cade. The Senior Class met Wednesday and the Juniors have called a meeting for today.

PROMINENT EAST

SIDER MARRIES

Miss Mary A. Downer Became Wife of Amos Goff Thursday

At Maplehurst the residence of Mrs. Mary Goff, were married on Thursday last, at 3 o'clock, Mr. Amos Goff and Miss Mary A. Downer. Before the ceremony, Mr. Jas. Norman sang "O Perfect Love," then the bride in dainty white and the groom in conventional black, supported by Helen Wellon and Warren Dunn, came into the room, where the guests were waiting, and the ceremony, making the twain one, was conducted by Rev. C. E. Newberry. The happy couple attended by the best wishes of a host of friends, departed that afternoon for California, where they will spend their honeymoon, returning later to the old homestead.

The guests were: Mrs. Mary Goff, mother of the groom; Mrs. James R. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Hoppe and sons; Mrs. John C. Datcher; Mrs. Lois Goff, Mrs. Helen Wellon, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Norman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ben S. Carver and family, Mrs. Wells Green, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Dunn, Mrs. George Butcher and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Will E. Costs Fifty Dollars

To Beat Souse

E. Wright of Mildred St., who was arrested last week for beating his wife, was tried before Judge Hanks Saturday and fined $50.00. As is usual the case, the wife tried to defend him but the evidence of neighbors was sufficiently strong to convict the scoundrel.

Liquor Men Turn

To Other Business

In states where prohibition goes into effect January 1, 1916, liquor dealers are getting ready to engage in other lines of business. The owners of the largest brewery in the state of Colorado are building a pottery plant from which they expect to make more money than they ever did from the brewery. They are also experimenting with malted milk manufacture. Neef Bros. of Denver will make "malt brew," a new temperance drink guaranteed to contain no alcohol. The large brewery at Bellingham, Washington, will be transformed into a cold storage and creamery plant. The secretary of the Beer Drivers' local union in Spokane goes into the hotel business, and the secretary of the local Bottlers' Union has bought a confectionary. The Idaho Falls Brewing Company will convert its buildings into a cold storage and ice manufacturing plant, and at Nampa the same crew of laborers are now employed in making food instead of beer. These are a few of the many instances of advantages prohibition will bring to the liquor men themselves. In changing their business the manufacturers and sellers of liquor will find abundant "compensation," financially and socially.

George M. D. Graves

A booster for the development of the East Side, whose term as president of the East Side Commercial Club expires September 4th, when his successor will be elected.

SCHOOL OPENS WITH

LARGE ATTENDANCE

Present Enrollment Surpasses That of Any Previous Year

It is reported that the enrollment of the local schools is the largest in their history. Every teacher has her full quota of pupils and the High School has made a decided gain over the total enrollment of last year and there are more to come.

Collinswood School is the only school to begin the year with less than the total enrollment of last year.

The pupils and patrons seem well pleased with the new corps of teachers and without doubt this will be the most successful year of the Kirkland schools.

Improvement Club

Gets the Dough

The Rose Hill Improvement Club staged another of their delightful entertainments last Saturday night at the Club House on Rose Hill. The total receipts of the evening were close of $70, which was applied on the club house debt.

The entertainment of the evening consisted in a program of music and readings by the best of local talent, after which the floor was cleared and dancing was indulged in until the early morning hours.

Ice cream, cake and other good things to eat were served under the supervision of R. J. McIntire and the good ladies of the club. The arrangement committee, consisting of R. J. Porter, H. G. Dahlby and A. L. Brown, deserve much credit for the success of the occasion. The money raised will relieve the pressure of the indebtedness upon the club to a considerable extent.

FAIR AT DUVAL

SEPTEMBER 16-18

Snoqualmie Valley Fair Association Plans for Big Occasion

The Snoqualmie Valley Fair Association announce their third annual fair at Duval, September 16, 17, 18.

They have a pretentious program and a large list of prizes. The entertainment program indicates that it will be exceptionally fine from the standpoint of amusement.

The departments listed are cattle, horses, sheep, farm produce, poultry, culinary, school agriculture, school industrial, girls' canning contest (King County), flowers, fruits and babies.

Maud and the

Typical Politician

Maud Muller on a summer's day As usual ranked the well-known hay.

The Judge rode by in his limousine, And lapped Friend Maud in a field of green.

"What is your name?" he asked. "My Lawd!" she said, "my name is Maud."

"As a candidate," began the Judge, "I beg you accept this box of fudge."

"You will vote for me?" The reason why merely this: I AM A DRY."

"Sorry," said Maud, "though a sufferer, I beg to inform you that I am a Wet."

"Ahem," said the Judge, as he cleared his throat: "I'm only 'dry' until after the vote."

REDMEN LODGES

PICNIC AT URAMIA

Seattle and Kirkland Organizations Meet in Sports and Goodfellowship

The Redmen of Seattle joined the Redmen of Kirkland in a picnic at Juanita Sunday. Both lodges had large representations. The day was spent in sports of various kinds, principally athletic, consisting of tug of war, races, jumping, distance throwing, etc. Lunches were brought and coffee etc. was served free to all. The ball game in the afternoon between the Redmen of Seattle and the Kirkland team was won by the visitors, the score being 4 to 0. The ball game was played on the Kirkland diamond.

At evening, the Redmen danced at the Uramia Hall, to music furnished by the Redmen orchestra of Seattle.

Seattle Redmen

Defeats Kirkland

The last ball game played on the local field this season.

The Kirkland team crossed bats with the Redmen team of Seattle and for eight innings not a run was scored. Both teams played faultless ball and the pitchers held their opponents to scatter-hits. After the eighth, the visitors' landed on the locals for several hits and piled up four runs before the onslaught could be stopped.

Before the Redmen held Kirkland to four hits and poked out a three batter to help win his own game.

Batteries—Kirkland, Turple and Blau; Redmen, Blair and Wittman.

Industrial Commission

Sometimes Puzzled

Emil Olson, of Seattle, was a restless sleeper. He fell out of the top bunk in a double decker in a bunkhouse tent, and in falling struck his head on a bench, inflicting several scratches on the right side of his face and wrenching his back. So he placed a claim for compensation with the state industrial insurance commission.

This is one of the many "freak" claims that come to the commission. Olson was hook tender for the Puget Mill company and was off duty two or three days because of his fall. "Olson said he was a restless sleeper and just fell out," wrote the foreman who signed the claim.

The male which kicked and dislodged Edward Kelly of Vancouver, was a "good repair," says another claim for compensation, which has come to the commission. The blanks of the commission are so made that the male is classified as a piece of machinery.

Was the machine or appliance in connection with which accident occurred in good repair? is one question, and the answer is "yes." "Part of the machine on which accident occurred" is asked. "Hind part of a mule," is the reply.

Kelly was leading six mules on a saddle horse following six other mules, and was kicked by the advance guard."

He adds: "No safeguards were provided." Kelly got his claim paid by the commission.

PORT COMMISSION

TO ENTERTAIN

Public Invited to Fourth Anniversary Celebration at Bell Street Dock Saturday

On Saturday, September 4, the Port Commission will hold exercises commemorating its Fourth Anniversary, on the garden roof of the Bell Street public warehouse. The Port District was created by vote of the people of King County at a special election held September 5, 1911.

A committee is at work on a program, and the residents of King County, outside of the city limits of Seattle, will be specially invited to attend and to inspect the six public terminals (transit freight sheds, warehouses, cold storage plants, lumber pier and handling machinery, grain elevator) and the two public ferries which the Port Commission has brought into existence. The following speakers have been invited to review the work of the Port Commission and survey the commercial opportunities of the Port:

R. H. Thompson, first Chief Engineer of the Port and for nineteen years City Engineer of Seattle.

George P. Cottenfield, former Mayor, Legislator, and public man.

Oliver T. Erickson, President of the City Council.

George W. Dilling, former Mayor of Seattle.

W. D. Lane, lawyer and member of the last Legislature.

James D. Bradford, City Corporation Counsel.

Mrs. Helen N. Stevens, publisher of "Western Woman's Outlook."

Mrs. P. D. Hughes, Mrs. Harber and other well known club women.

Robert Bridges, President of the Port Commission, will preside.

A souvenir booklet is being issued by a local publishing concern and will be distributed to farmers.

One of the features of the gathering of King County farmers will be a farmer's wedding on the Bell St. roof garden.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE

BEGAN TUESDAY

Coach Anderson Reports

Good Material for Live Snappy Team

The football squad of the High School reported for their first practice Tuesday afternoon. The large number of candidates will enable Coach Anderson to place two teams in the field, thereby enabling the team to obtain practice that has been so badly needed in past years.

While Daniels, Parker and Curtis of last year's team are missing, there will undoubtedly be a capable trio developed to take their place. Of last season's team, nine have reported, namely, Cade, Capt. Sharp, Rowley, Bell, Taylor, Howland, Perron, Nelson, and Apt.

The team this year will undoubtedly be lighter than last season but hard practice and attention to their business will enable the boys to overcome this apparent handicap. Then the fact that there are more veteran players than usual will make the team stronger to begin with. If the boys will report for practice regularly and attend to their knitting Kirkland High should end the season with a nice string of scalps hanging to her belt.

EDITORIAL

The thunder storm of Sunday night was something of a novelty to Kirkland.

The stark evidence staged a "homeseekers excursion" on the East Side last week.

If Sheriff Hodge will send the Packard the Commissioners pursued for him, across the lake, we can use it. We're not so awful particular.

The strain of trying to interpret the "Water Ordinance" caused several of the City Fathers to hike to the hills for the purpose of recuperating. Since they have cleared their brains with a little mountain air, it is to be hoped that they will clarify the proposed ordinance.

Poaches were on sale at Kirkland the first of the week for 35 cents per crate, while the Seattle price was 40 cents. Some of our citizens spent so much time discussing what they can buy elsewhere cheaper than at home, that they fail to discover that local prices frequently knock the spots off Seattle prices.

Concrete has an editor that has the nerve to say what he thinks. He published the Enterprise several years but told too much truth to suit the big interests of the town. They plotted and schemed and finally succeeded in taking the plant away from him. He procured another outfit and is now publishing the Skagit Valley News.

This is only an example of the means that are often taken to squelch free speech in this country. The editor that has a debt hanging over his plant, lives under a club that may fall at any moment, if he fails to toe the mark set by certain capitalists. Here's luck to you, Jacobin—give 'em fits.

The East Side Commercial Club will meet Saturday night as previously announced and every edition of Kirkland that is interested in the growth and development of the community should be present. Important matters will be discussed at the meeting and a proposition will be proposed for better local people on the East Side.

As the plan for making the organization purely a local one will be proposed, this need is obvious. It will be impossible to obtain the full sentiment of the community unless a large attendance be on hand.

Saladatory handshakes, factional friendships, and disgruntled ones should be present or forevermore hold their peace.

Enterprising citizens, that have an iota of local pride and public spirit, will undoubtedly be there.

Forget your grudge and personal differences and let us all put our shoulder to the wheel for a big boost.

Between the two extremes, we took his stand and never flinched or deviated from his course.

American rights have been recognized and without bloodshed. The United States are blessed with a hand at the helm, that is swayed by no influence other than justice and love for his fellow man.

Wilson knows what he wants and has a habit of getting it whether it be from Congress, Germany, or the people.

Congress and Germany give it to him thru fear but the people thru love and confidence.

Around Town

Geo. Burt has quit cooking doughnuts and we have to go home for lunch.

Chas. Andrews has returned from his outing and the citizens of Kirkland insist on a little more attention to the weather. Mr. Andrews has been a miserable farce as "weather director" the past few weeks.

Dick Worthington had to buy a new hat for sandwich purposes last week. The last hat only lasted fourteen weeks and five days and furnished meat for 8753 sandwiches. It's getting hard on the restaurant man when they grow hams so small.

The Seattle postmaster says that Hank Dalby was a living introduction point at the P. M.'s convention at Olympia last week. We knew something was crooked about Hank but was not aware of trend of the crookedness.

Mayor Newell Chaperoned Chas.

Andrews, Tom Kyler, and Geo. Chapman on a fishing trip at Lake Lake last week but it took a whole herd of women to watch the mayor. Its awful to have such a reputation.

Wanted—A new excuse to give the wife for staying over in the city until the last boat. Must be entirely new, the old ones have been worked to a frazzle. Liberal reward.

The Editor.

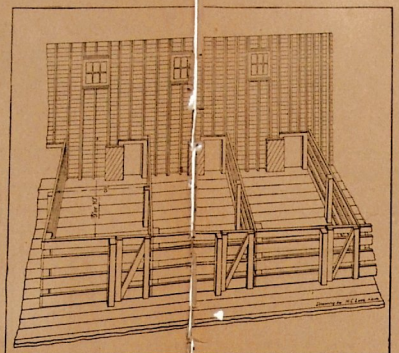

One city official is glad that the editor resigned as police judge. We told him that the same days we had to have the boys punched for shooting craps we were going to issue warrants for some of the local society folks for playing whist for cut glass.

Taken Up—A Jersey cow.

Owner can have same by calling at Rose Hill Grocery and paying all the charges.

HOGS MUST HAVE FRESH AIR TO THRIVE.

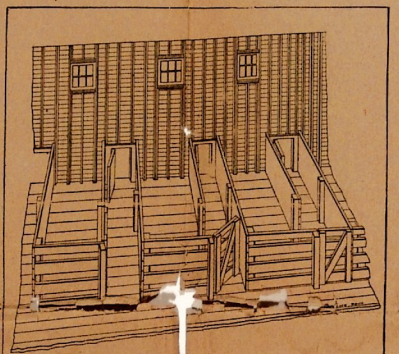

But a Properly Built and Ventilated House Guards Them From Drafts.

PEN 1-IMPROPERLY BUILT HOG HOUSE.

PEN 1 in the illustrations shows an interior view of a hog house. Hogs kept in this space cannot get fresh air and be removed from exposure to drafts; hence rheumatism may be counted upon as a certainty.

Pen 2 shows pen 1 slightly removed. By the addition of a short partition leading from the right of each door to nearly the far end of the pen the hogs are protected from drafts. The partition is closed. Wind entering the doorway or the window higher up is made to circulate above the sleeping hogs by the solidly built partitions. Thus while the wind gets all the benefits of fresh air, they do not get the discomforts of having drafts of wind blow upon them while they are sleeping. The style of pen indicated by 2 is used on the state farm at Pullman with good results.

The real crying extravagance is not spending money for something; it is spending money for nothing.

Scores and hundreds of Counties have been levying assessments for road purposes decade after decade, with practically nothing today to show for the expenditure.

If all the money spent in American road-building had been spent on the most permanent types of construction, there would be ten times the mileage of actual, visible improvement that can be found today.

Permanence pays.

THE RETIREMENT OF DR. E. A. BRYAN AT PULLMAN

Resigns From Presidency of State College After Twenty-two Years' Continuous Service.

The approaching retirement of Dr. E. A. Bryan from the Presidency of the State College of Washington brings to mind the resources in educational equipment which the institution and the state owe to him.

Oddly enough, not a building now is on the Campus that was standing when Dr. Bryan arrived in 1893. Then the institution had one rather questionably built dormitory—all Ferry Hall burned down in the later nineties—and less than $185,000 in buildings for instructional and experimental purposes.

DR. E. A. BRYAN.

He has served for thirty-five consecutive years as college president. Twenty-two years of this period have been devoted to the State College of Washington.

poes. There was a scant $100,000 invested in working equipment. The College Farm had never seen a crop of corn, alfalfa or red clover. Agricultural experimentation of any kind was scarcely begun.

The instructional equipment now in use by the twenty-one collegiate departments of the State College inventory slightly above $300,000. Buildings now in use and put on the Campus by President Bryan inventory at slightly above $1,000,000. In other words, the State College has developed from a $50,000 institution in 1893 to a $1,200,000 institution in 1915.

The land and timber endowment of the State College, which has been conserved rather than exploited during Mr. Bryan's administration, has reached a present value of not less than $10,000,000. Very little of this is yet realized upon. The student body now coming from all counties of Washington and all cities and towns of any size averages about 1,000. 1,300 of whom have collegiate standing. In 1893 when President Bryan arrived, there were fewer than 100 regularly enrolled students, none of whom were of collegiate rank. Few of the students were from beyond eastern Washington, and the majority came from the near vicinity of Pullman.

Of the 150 graduates of last June one-third were in different branches of agriculture. One-third also were from western Washington. Approximately 40 per cent of the present student body is from the western half of the state.

Dr. Bryan will retire in the beginning of his twenty-third year as President of the Agricultural College of Washington. He already has served longer as President of a state institution than any other man in America. Last winter in Washington, D. C., he was elected President of the American Association of Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations.

At the June meeting just past the Board of Regents named the largest and most beautiful building on the Campus "E. A. Bryan Hall." This is the library and auditorium building. The auditorium part of the building seats 1,200 people and contains stage facilities for first class dramatic productions, which often are given. The library end of the building contains upper and lower reading rooms capable of seating hundreds, seminar rooms for advanced study and a quadruple decked, fireproof library stack containing over 60,000 volumes for student and faculty use.

THE LIFE SAVER KNOWS WHAT HE WENT AFTER

THAT WAS A HEROIC
RESCUE YOU JUST MADE, SOMETHING OF
VALUE I SUPPOSE

YOU JUST BET IT WAS:
MY NEW POUCH OF THE
REAL TOBACCO CHEW/
THE POUCH IS WATERPROOF

NOBODY wants to put a big, bulgy wad of tobacco in his cheek.

All around you, men are using the Real Tobacco Chew. And telling their friends how good it is;
that it satisfies their tobacco hunger.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened, just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW IS NOW CUT TWO WAYS!
W-B CUT IS LONG SHRED. RIGHT CUT IS SHORT SHRED.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco Chew comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

Notice how the salt brings
out the rich tobacco taste.

Redmond News Notes

School opened Monday with a good attendance.

F. A. Reil and family returned from an auto trip to South Bend Tuesday.

Miss Stringer is conducting revival services at the Methodist church.
She is a deaconess and a good talker.

Misses Velma and Vera Morse, and Zola and Mae Rignall will leave this week for North Yakima, where they will visit for several weeks.

C. A. Shinsrum and wife returned Saturday from an extended visit to the Hood Canal and Lake Crescent country. They made the trip in their auto and report a delightful visit.

H. S. Reed and Chas. Brown made the automobile trip to North Yakima for several days business. (3) returning Wednesday. They report that they watched each other carefully and both had the job of his life
taking care of them. Reed says Brown behaved scandalously but that he was on his good behavior. Brown's version has not yet reached this office.

Turning the Tables.

"Turning the tables" in the sense of bringing a countercharge against an accuser has a classic origin. In the days of Augustus Imperator a regular craze seized the men of Rome to compete with one another for the possession of the costliest specimens of a certain description of table made for the most part of Mauritanian wood laid with ivory—"mensura insula," or table mania, as Pliny called it. They were sold at most extravagant prices.
When the men accused the ladies of sumptuary extravagance the latter naturally retorted by reference to the money squandered on these lords on these tables and so "turned the tables on them" by throwing them metaphorically in their teeth.

A Remarkable Suicide.

One of the most remarkable cases of suicide was that of the king of Falah,
on the west coast of Africa.
The king was attacked by a Mohammedan force, and, finding resistance impossible, he committed his fate to and principal officers and after addressing them and intimating his determination never to accept Mohammed anism and laying those who did not agree with him to go away, he applied
a light to a large quantity of powder
he collected for the purpose and blew himself into atoms and all who were in it.

BREAKING INTO PRINT.

One Writer's First Little Check and
the Way It Spent It.

Richard Harding Davis, says the London Strand Magazine, is one of those fortunate men whose short stories can always command a thousand dollars and over. How he "broke into print" is an interesting little history.
"It was while at Lehigh university,"
he says, "that I earned my first sum for writing. It was a description of a cane rush at the university, and I sent it to a local paper. It was published, and a few days later I received a check for the large sum of $115. I have received larger checks since then, but the biggest of them never gave me the thrill that that one did.
"Just as soon as I cashed that check
I sallied out to buy 'something' with it—I had no idea what—and in my search I found two very nice looking candlesticks which, I think, were about the price of the story I had sold. I bought them. They were made of brass and seemed very solid and handsome. One I sent to my mother, and the other I kept for myself. They are still in existence, I believe, a shining witness to the first fracture I made in my youthful endeavor to 'break into print.'"

ARABIAN HORSES.

Ancient Stories of Their Care and Training Are Mere Fables.

So far as we know, the Arabian breeders have no patented system of training their horses different from those prevailing among peoples of a similar degree of civilization. Naturally the lack of pasture results in young Arabian horses being fed a considerable quantity of barley and, so the story goes at least, a not inconsiderable quantity of the fruit of the date
palm, fresh and dried, by way of suc-
cenance.

The colts are broken, usually bare-backed, at two or three years old.
Their subsequent handling is much like that of all other horses, with perhaps the difference that as early in life as possible the young animals are accustomed to doing without water for increasing periods of time in order to ac-certain them later on to the scarcity of liquids in desert journeys.

The ancient stories about the Arab steed being kissed and bawled over by the shepherd's whole family, kept in the living tent and fanned on the best silk rugs are picturesque fables containing about the same measure of truth as the one which dates the pellucency of Arabian horses back to the mares owned in Biblical times by King Solomon.—
Breeder's Gazette.

THEY SAW THE GHOST.

Easy to Recognize the Woman Who Had Haunted the Place.

"A certain lady and her family,"
says Sir Mountstuart Grant Duff in his "Diary," "lived a place in Scotland which was haunted by the ghost of a woman who was to be seen constantly at night wandering through the trees and passages. When the family arrived the lady was much struck with the fact that she had never seen her before,
for I knew this place so well, only there ought to be two rooms here, and there is only one."

"The agent replied that within a few weeks the owner had caused a partition to be taken down and made the two rooms into one. Still the lady was puzzled at her knowledge of the place
she remembered that it was a house she used to go to in her dreams."
"Well, some time passed, and the agent was up at the house again, when the lady complained that one part of the contract had not been fulfilled.
They had hired a house and a ghost for the summer, and no ghost had she seen."

The agent replied: "Of course not,
because you, madam, are the ghost.
I've recognized you the moment we saw you."

The Fate of the Oneida.

One of the most extraordinary catastrophes that have befallen vessels of the United States destroyed the sloop of war Oneida in 1861. She was bound homeward with a jolly ship's company eager to see wives and sweethearts and native land once more,
when far out of port she was struck by the British steamer Bombay coming in. The stem of the Oneida cut off the stem of the Oneida. The ship was sinking rapidly, and guns of destruction were immediately fired, but the Bombay steamed on her way and left the vessel to her doom. She went down, and all but one or two of her crew were drowned. The captain of the Bombay gave no other reason for his conduct than that he had Lady Eye, the wife of a distinguished British satrap, on board and did not wish to disturb her nerves with scenes of shipwreck. He was mobbed when he reached Yokohama, dismissed from the service, socially tabooed from that time on and died in disgrace a year or two later.

The Obstacles to Evil.

In the continuation of our nature a limit has been fixed to the triumph of evil. Falsity in theory is everywhere confronted by the facts which present themselves to every man's observation.
A lie has no power to change the ordinance of God. Every day discloses his overwhimsiness until it fades away from our recollection and is numbered among the things that were.
The indissoluble connection which our Creator has established between vice and misery tends also continually to arrest the progress of evil and to reduce eddies whatever would render evil attractive.—Francis Wayland.

Frigma.

Frigma, from whom Friday is derived, was either a god or a goddess, according to time and country. As a man he was a great hunter and warrior, always represented with a draw-sword in one hand and a bow in the other. In the Scandinavian countries he was called the "Veas of the North," and the sixth day of the week was consecrated to her worship.—London Mail.

A Shade of Doubt.

"What do you think of my graduation essay?" asked the young man.
"Fine," replied his father. "Only I'm afraid a lot of people are going to be helpful about offering plain wages to a man whose intellect is so much above
the average."—Washington Star.

For Nature Students.

The young author, reading a fake animal story to the attentive editor, said:
"Whereupon the woodchuck laughed
sotto to himself."
"Ah," remarked the editor, "I suppose he laughed in a woodchuck."—
