Do You Know

Seattle is one of the grandest places on earth, and every resident should be thankful that it is his good fortune to be numbered among its inhabitants.

View the grandeur of her scenery, consider the large bodies of fresh and salt water surrounding her, the wonderful richness of the soil and the wealth of the forests about her, the magnificent possibilities of her future sea and rail commerce.

Then from a health standpoint—her perfect drainage, pure salt and mountain air, but most important the pure and inexhaustible water supply. These are some of the reasons why Seattle is a World City and answers the question why her Breweries are attaining worldwide fame for the excellence of their product.

Fortuna Park

Fortuna Park is situated on the north end of Mercer Island and is by far the finest and best arranged picnic grounds near Seattle. Cool, clear spring water, shady paths and cozy family picnic corners, with seats and tables, outside the public grounds, swings, children's play grounds, baseball grounds, bathing floats for children, bath houses, row boats and everything that could be thought of to make it a perfect family picnic ground. Bring your lunch baskets with you, and there is a kitchen provided where you can prepare your coffee, etc., or you can avoid all care of lunch preparation and get your lunch and refreshments at the Fortuna Park Lunch Counter at very reasonable prices.

For the use of clubs, societies and large parties, there is a fine pavilion, with a dancing floor 60x100 feet. Dressing rooms and stage, all electrically lighted, the large baseball grounds or athletic park for sports and games, and picnic tables and seats in every nook and corner—an ideal spot in which to throw off all cares for a day and enjoy yourself.

On chartered days and holidays steamers make hourly or half-hourly trips from Leschi Park to Fortuna Park. The daily steamer schedule is that of the Steamer Fortuna on page 3.

Kirkland

Kirkland, "The Oakland of Seattle," is fast developing into an important suburban residence city.

Kirkland's immediate cause of growth is the demand that has arisen during the past few years, and especially during this last year. There are 18 regular passenger boats daily to and from Seattle. Kirkland is only "45 minutes" from Seattle's business center, and therefore is ideally situated to care for this demand. But this has resulted in a heavy increase in population since 1910 by Burke & Farrar, Inc., and put on the market in city lots and acre or more tracts.

Situated midway of the east shore of Lake Washington, Kirkland is the point through which traffic between Seattle and the Cherry, Snoqualmie and Lake Sammamish valleys passes. An excellent system of roads radiates from Kirkland into these valleys. The latest road to be built, which has become the popular automobile route to Snoqualmie Falls, is the new state aid road from Kirkland to that point. Later, connection will be made with the Inland Empire Highway to Walla Walla. A dozen or more automobiles are engaged in passenger and freight transportation over these roads.

Commencement of construction of the Lake Washington canal has had a tremendous influence upon Kirkland's growth, for it is coming to be generally realized that Kirkland real estate values will be very materially raised by the opening and operation of the Canal, and this property is therefore looked upon as very good investment property. Not often is found such a strong combination of residence and investment features in one property.

The Canals Are Coming

Captain! Captain! Stop the Boat I want to get off at Kirkland

1. The climate is superb.
2. You can live in Kirkland and work in Seattle—Kirkland is only "45 minutes" from Second and Madison.
3. Cost of living is lower than in Seattle.
4. The land is productive and Seattle will buy, at high prices, all the fruit, berries, etc., you can raise—poultry does especially well here.
5. Kirkland has excellent grade and high schools, churches, etc., and no saloons—it is a "Home city."

Stop and see Kirkland before you decide where to buy your home near Seattle—view homesites $150 and up; acre or more tracts, $250 and up. Terms, $5 to $10 monthly.

STEAMER AQUILO

One of the most picturesque and delightful trips on Lake Washington. Leaving Madison Park, we leave behind us the dust and heat of the city, and crossing the lake, pass along the shores and through the beautiful bays of Fairweather and Cosy Cove, the banks of which are here and there beautified by the handsome homes of Seattle business men nestling in shady nooks in the midst of well-kept lawns and fruit orchards.

Excursions around the beautiful bays of Fairweather, Cosy Cove and Juanita, stopping at Fairweather, Sunny-side, Yarrow, Houghton, Churches, Kirkland, Cedarmere and Juanita.

WILDWOOD PARK

This beautiful pleasure spot is located at the head of Maydenbower Bay, an arm of Lake Washington, and is one of the most popular picnic and amusement resorts in the vicinity of Seattle.

There is a large pavilion, baseball field and athletic grounds, while here and there are many cozy nooks with tables and seats for large or small parties.

Refreshments are easily obtainable and boats for fishing and rowing are at hand.

There are ten boats daily from Leschi Park to Wildwood (Bellevue), besides late boats Wednesday and Saturday nights.

A round trip ride on the fast and elegant steamer
Urania is one of the most delightful of the many enjoyable excursions that can be taken on beautiful Lake Washington. The steamer leaves from Madison Park, and crossing the lake, passes through Fairweather, Cosy Cove and Northrup Bays, along the shores to Kirkland. Thence to Juanita Bay and the town Juanita, returning to Madison Park.

This trip covers a distance of about 18 miles, and is made in about an hour and a half.
